

Dear Sirs:Regarding the dispute between the NAB and satellite radio providers, I clearly voice my belief that satellite radio should not be encumbered from providing any programming is deems fit.

I currently subscribe to satellite radio because of the variety and convenience it offers. Any government interference on behalf of the NAB under the guise of fairness would severely limit the value of my monthly investment as well as that of the millions of other subscribers of these services.

Please consider this when making you decision not to hinder satellite radio from providing local and regional services if they wish.

Wesley Miller